

- 1 John is packing for his holidays.
He needs his mother's help.

1. John asked his mother if it would be warm there.
C. His mother replied that it was usually very hot in Italy.

- 2 Mrs Cooper was an eye-witness (Augenzeuge) at a bank robbery.
At the police station the Sergeant asked her many questions:

Sergeant:

6. What did you do at the bank?
7. Can you describe exactly what happened?
8. What did the man do?
9. What did he look like?
10. What were you doing at this moment?
11. What time was it exactly?
12. Did you notice anything else?

Mrs Cooper:

- I paid some bills.
A tall man came to the counter.
He shouted, "This is a hold-up!"
He looked like an ordinary customer.
I was just filling in a cheque.
10.35.
The man was carrying a big plastic bag.

Mrs Cooper tells her husband what they asked her at the police station and what she answered.

After taking part in a big bank robbery, Donald Boggs escaped abroad, to places where the British police couldn't get him. Now he is living in San Bernardo. Ted Slant, a British journalist, has come to interview him. Write reports from the interview as in the example.

SLANT: What part did you play in the robbery?
BOGGS: I drove the car for the getaway.

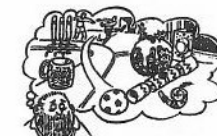

SLANT: How long have you been living in San Bernardo?
BOGGS: I've been here for six years. I was living in San Pedro before, but the police there threw me out.

SLANT: Are you happy in San Bernardo?
BOGGS: No, I'm not. I don't speak the language.

SLANT: Will you ever go back to Britain?
BOGGS: I won't go back until the police drop the case against me - and they'll never do that.

SLANT: What do you miss most about Britain?
BOGGS: I miss the pubs and the football. But it's worst at Christmas. I always feel miserable then.

SLANT: Do your old friends ever write to you?
BOGGS: No, they don't. They're all in prison, you see.
